

CELEBRATING 30 YEARS

Pipedreams®

Historic Organs of SWITZERLAND

May 12-25, 2014 14 Days
with J. Michael Barone

INVITATION

Dear Pipedreams Pals,

Would you believe that this will be PIPE-DREAMS Tour Number Thirteen!? I hope that's not an unlucky number, but it does attest to thirteen years of intense, exciting, game-changing group adventures in the world of the pipe organ! Some of you have participated in nearly all of these, some of you were first-timers last year, and some of you may have evidenced interest and curiosity, but have not previously been able to join us. Now is the year, I hope!

Even before we had begun the previous tour, members of the group already were asking 'what's next?...' and though I had some ideas then, I couldn't make up my mind. But I had been impressed by some recordings featuring an excellent young Belgian recitalist who now lives in Switzerland, Els Biesemans (www.elsbiesemans.be), and discovered her to be quite intrigued by our project and able to collaborate with me in its creation.

We will travel the length and breadth of Switzerland, from Zurich to Geneva, Lausanne to Leuk, through breath-taking scenery of lakes and mountains, while experiencing a most comprehensive history of the pipe organ, from its medieval beginnings to its present-day representatives.

In addition to the world's oldest pipe organ and other famous historic instruments by Silbermann and Bossard we'll investigate Swiss-made installations by Mooser, Carlen, Mathis, Metzler, Goll, and Kuhn, plus the largest American-built organ in Europe, by Fisk.

A special PIPEDREAMS broadcast in December ("A Swiss Mix" #1348) should whet your curiosity and introduce you to the incredible variety of Swiss pipe organs and the music composed for them. But that is only a taste. As we have learned, nothing equals the in-person experience of a pipe organ, as the cultural contexts and architectural environments in which these instruments live greatly enhance one's understanding and appreciation of them. Switzerland is a multi-cultural country, with strong influences from France, Germany and Italy, and because of its neutrality and prosperity, virtually every church or civic building houses a pipe organ. Our biggest challenge was determining what not to see.

As usual, comfortable shoes are a necessity, and you should be prepared to walk some distances, since several venues will not allow our coach up-close access. Typically, some days will be packed with activities, but we've also attempted to provide a bit more 'free time' for your own individual explorations. Also, feel free to come early or stay late if you are enticed by other involvements beyond those we've planned, as there is much to savor in Switzerland!

This will be my first visit to Switzerland, so each day will be rich with discoveries for me, and for you, too, I trust. I hope you will be able to join our crew for this wonderful experience. Make your reservations now... don't delay!

Cheers,

Michael Barone
